Self-description worksheet

In the self-description test you write what your parents, teachers, friends and you yourself think of you, and the qualities you wish to develop.

Write a few lines for each

1. What my parents think of me
2. What my teachers or employers think of me
3. What my friends think of me
4. What I think of myself
5. Qualities I would like to develop, and how

Guidance

Be honest and specific. Use examples rather than lists of adjectives. Your answers should match how you come across in the other tests and the interview.

Practice material prepared for aspirants. The procedure and timings at your Selection Board are set by the board itself and your call-up letter.
